NEW DEVELOPMENT IN LAVAL

18 million euros is being spent on the Place du 11 Novembre in the centre of Laval, with the transformation expected to be completed in 2025.

The centrepiece of the redevelopment will be a 65million euro food hall with more than a dozen traders. This gourmet hall will be open 7 days a week and will provide a restaurant bar and tea room. A panoramic terrace will offer a wide view of the Mayenne river and an adjoining covered awning will make it possible to hold cultural and commercial events all through the year.

There will also be a large water feature and children's playground. 50% of the money will come from the Town Hall's budget and the rest from government grants. Work has already started and diversions are in place.

A new "Transport on Demand" service has been launched throughout the department.

Simply phone: 09 69 39 14 14 and request transport from A-to-B from virtually any village in the department. From 2€ you can travel across your sector (and further) at a time that suits you (subject to availability). And don't worry about speaking French, once you get through to an advisor you can ask for someone who speaks English! continued on page 2

The Olympic Flame will travel through the Mayenne in 2024

As part of the preparations for the 2024 Olympic Games in Paris, the Mayenne department will be welcoming the Olympic torch at various points throughout the department. The route has not yet been revealed but on Wednesday 29th May (2 months before the games start), the flame will pass through well-known locations in the department, ending at the Espace Mayenne in Laval.

The Olympic flame will arrive in France in the port of Marseille on the Belem, the second largest sailing ship in France. It will end its journey on July 14 in Paris. The Mayenne department has paid €180,000 to have the flame pass through the department.

Mayenne: The hidden gem of NW France

Long overlooked by British holiday makers, this green and pleasant land has finally been put on the map thanks to celebrity residents like Dick Strawbridge and Dave Myers!

Just an hour's drive from St Malo, the department of Mayenne in the Pays de la Loire has recently found fame through the TV show "Escape to the Chateau" with Dick and Angel Strawbridge. The small village of Martigné-sur-Mayenne, 17 kms North-East of Laval has become a popular stop off for fans of the show. And Fougerolles du Plessis in the North-West of the department has featured on the Hairy Biker's programme, as the backdrop to an episode based at Dave Myers' house there.

With prices in Martigné averaging 1637€/m² and in Fougerolles just 871€/m² its not hard to see why people are so interested in this hidden gem! Despite post Brexit restrictions, we are still seeing lots of British people buying homes here. Why not have a look at our property pages (8 & 9) and find the local estate agents with the best deals?!

Over 80% of the Mayenne is agricultural land so it's no surprise that Mayenne is in the bottom 25 least populated departments of France. If you are looking for peace and tranquility, then you've come to the right place. Cycling (France's national sport) is well accommodated here, there's over 128 km of old railway lines and 85 km of towpaths to explore. Not to mention the forests and woodlands.

The Mayenne river runs through the centre of the department for over 300kms, and with many more rivers and lakes throughout the region there's no shortage of watersports facilities. Check out our leisure guide on page 12 for more information on fishing, boat-hire, etc.

If all that nature is too much for you, head in to Laval town for a busier vibe.... Restaurants, bars, a cinema, museums, live music and much more awaits you. The administrative capital of the department, Laval boasts a population of over 50,000 with several commercial centres and a brand new concert venue: L'Espace de la Mayenne. You can even take the train to Paris for the day, it's just a 1hour 10 minute TGV train journey away!

Whatever your reasons for coming to Mayenne, you'll never forget your visit!

Mayenne carpenters help restore Notre Dame

A Mayenne company has won the contract (part of a multi-company tender) to help restore Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris.

Cruard Charpente (Mayenne), Le Bras Frères (Meurthe-et-Moselle), Asselin (Deux-Sèvres) and Métiers du Bois (Calvados) have already started working together at a site in the East of France, sorting the 1,200 hundred-year-old oak supplied from, among other places, the Scierie des Géants in Craon. As well as structural work, there are also the decorations on the spire, railings and decorations to reconstruct.

The company is no stranger to restoring historical monuments, having already worked on restoration projects on the stables of Versailles, the castles of Azay-le-Rideau, Chenonceaux, Sainte Suzanne and the Château-Neuf de Laval, and even the convent of the Ursulines in Chateau-Gontier.

The family business is run by brothers Aurélien and Florian Lefèvre and has just celebrated its 30th anniversary. Work will start on site at the cathedral in March 2023.

The assembly of the 2,300 pieces of the spire on the cathedral started in the spring of 2023 with 4 to 8 Mayennais workers on site in Paris.

Pontmain Basilica (53220 Pontmain)

In 1871, local children saw an apparition of the virgin Mary in the night sky. Every year, thousands of pilgrims come to visit the village and a large basilica was built in honour of the vision. On a sunny day the stained glass windows are amazing to see. There are several gift shops selling souvenirs, a café, bar and a restaurant. The village is particularly busy on the anniversary of the vision (17th January) and on August 15th (Assumption of Mary). There is a thatched barn in the centre of the village where the local children were working when they saw the vision, and you can listen to a recounting of the event (in French) here. Masses are held daily at 10am. A secluded woodland walk can be found behind the Basilica.

Refuge de l'Arche

Refuge de l'Arche is an animal sanctuary near Chateau Gontier. The sanctuary is a haven for animals in need of care, protection, and rehabilitation. It is home to a diverse range of species, including domesticated animals, farm animals, and wild animals.

The Refuge was founded in 1976 by Jean-Pierre and Monique Le Roch, who dedicated their lives to providing shelter and care for animals in need. The sanctuary started with a few domesticated animals, but it soon grew to accommodate a wider range of animals. The Le Rochs' dedication to animal welfare has made the refuge one of the largest and most respected animal sanctuaries in France.

The sanctuary's primary mission is to care for animals in need, and the centre takes in animals from all over France, including those that have been mistreated, abandoned, or injured. The sanctuary has specialized facilities for animals that require medical attention or rehabilitation before they can be released back into the wild. The centre also provides long-term care for animals that cannot be released due to their injuries or disabilities.

Visitors can take guided tours of the sanctuary to learn about the animals and their stories. The centre's staff and volunteers are passionate about animal welfare, and they work tirelessly to ensure that the animals at the sanctuary are happy and healthy. Funded entirely by donations, by visiting the refuge, you are not only supporting the welfare of the animals but also contributing to the conservation of endangered species. The refuge's work has helped to raise awareness about animal welfare, and it serves as an inspiration to others who are dedicated to animal care and protection. www.refuge-arche.org 13 quater Rue Félix Marchand, 53200 Château-Gontier-sur-Mayenne

Jublains - Roman ruins and visitor centre

Around 450 BC, there was an ancient Gallic village here with a temple. Then, in the 1st century, on the foundations of the ancient village, an important Roman town developed. The Romans created the city of Noviodunum (literally New Town), the chief town of the region of the Diablintes. The site is open every weekday except Wednesdays throughout the year (closed in December, reopening in the February).

Mayenne Markets have a rich history, dating back to the Middle Ages. The department was an important crossroads for trade routes between the Loire Valley and Brittany, which led to the development of a thriving market economy.

In the 13th century, many of the towns in Mayenne were granted market charters by the local lords, giving them the right to hold markets and fairs. These markets were an essential part of the local economy, providing a place for farmers, artisans, and merchants to sell their goods. One of the most popular markets in Mayenne is the Laval market, which takes place every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday in the town of Laval. The market is held in the historic town center and features over 200 vendors selling everything from fresh produce and meats to clothing and crafts. Visitors can sample local cheeses, meats, and wines, or pick up handmade souvenirs to take home.

Today, Mayenne's street markets continue to thrive, offering visitors a chance to experience the rich history and culture of the department. Whether you're looking for fresh produce, artisanal crafts, or a taste of local cuisine, the markets of Mayenne are sure to offer something special.

Bargain hunters paradise!

Emmaus charity shops in France have become a very popular destination for bargain hunters and those looking to support a good cause.

Founded in 1949 by Father Henri Groues, the organization aims to provide shelter, food, and support to those in need.

The Emmaus charity shops in France offer a wide range of products including clothing, furniture, books, and electronics at affordable prices.

What sets them apart from traditional thrift stores is that all of the items are donated, and the proceeds from sales go directly towards funding Emmaus' programs to help those in need.

Additionally, the organization provides job opportunities for individuals facing social and economic exclusion. Centres are usually open every Wednesday and Saturday. Visit www.emmaus53.net for more info.

Market update:

Spring 2023

According to the website MeilleursAgents.com, the housing market in the Mayenne is still very active, with an average of 9% more buyers than sellers. The price per m² varies throughout the region, you can expect to pay 2411€/m² for a house in Laval compared to 1256€/m² in Ambrières-les-Vallées.

House prices have increased noticeably since the Covid Crisis, with Parisians, amongst others, looking for affordable "work from home" properties. The roll-out of Fibre-Optic Internet has also helped (Mayenne is aiming to be the first department offering Fibre to every resident). And with Laval just a 1 hour 15-minute train ride away from Paris, the Mayenne is a great choice! Post-Brexit, we are still seeing British buyers arrive in the department as well as Dutch, German, American, and Australian. 2022 was a bumper year for house sales in the Mayenne but it's looking like prices are flattening and demand is dropping off slightly so the predictions for the market in 2023 are conservative.

There are still plenty of great properties for sale, from renovation projects with 10 acres to modern apartments, there's something for everyone in the Mayenne!

PROPERTY

The Mayenne department has long been a popular destination for both second homeowners from the UK and those looking for a permanent move to experience a traditional French lifestyle whilst still having good links back to see family in the UK. New people to the Mayenne come here to appreciate its lush green countryside, pretty villages. And great links across to Brittany, the coast, Mont saint Michel etc.

The property market in the Mayenne offers potential buyers a vast choice of options at all budgets and the north of Mayenne remains one of the more affordable areas. Over the last two years with the global changes that have taken place the department has seen a shift into a more diverse set of buyers looking to make the Mayenne their home. Including buyers from across the rest of Europe and internationally.

Here at Gorrion Immobilier we have been matching clients to properties since 2004 and, we pride ourselves on our knowledge of the local property market, its people, and traditions. Helping to smoothly guide clients through their journey to becoming a property owner in the Mayenne. Currently we have a good selection of properties throughout the department to suit most budgets. www.gorrionimmobilier.com

Amanda Fellows has lived and worked in France for over 15 years now and feels very much at home in NW Mayenne with its rolling countryside and traditional villages; she has deep roots in the area and feels blessed to be able to pass on her knowledge and experience through her work with Leggetts, the French property experts with over 10,000 properties for sale for all budgets.

With the slower pace of life, warmer climate and easy access to ports and other transport links, its easy to see why the area is so popular with British and International buyers. It's also just an hour or so from the coast. Those looking for a more cosmopolitan area should explore Laval with its vibrant arts scene, trendy bars and cultural events. Based in Gorrion, Amanda covers a wide area including departments 35, 50 and 61. For buyers, the good news is that Leggett's Pays de la Loire team have an impressive portfolio of properties to choose from, with something for every budget. Property is still in high demand throughout the region so there's never been a better time to sell, we have buyers waiting!

LUMON

Making your overseas payments quick, effortless and simple.

From the warmer climates, to the beautiful scenery and chateau's, easy access and affordable property, there is much to do and see, and experience in the Mayenne. But of course, moving abroad means making an overseas payment and you'll want it to be quick, effortless and simple!

When moving to France, there are many things to consider, from the process and cost involved in buying property to what visas you'll need, paying tax, what to do about healthcare, and even bringing your family pets with you. We've been helping customers successfully buy their dream property for more than 20 years. We do this by providing access to powerful technology and experts who understand the importance of the human touch. Plus with our competitive exchange rates, you can make significant savings compared to the high-street banks. Our experienced account managers will walk you through every step of the process.

Currency Exchange explained

Using a currency exchange company when buying in France can be advantageous for several reasons. Firstly, it can provide you with a more favorable exchange rate compared to exchanging currency at a bank or airport. This can save you money and provide you with more spending power.

Secondly, reputable currency exchange companies can offer peace of mind knowing that your money is being exchanged securely and efficiently.

Recently, internet currency accounts like Revolut and Wise have gained in popularity and their convenience makes a lot of sense for property owners in France but these type of accounts are usually peer-to-peer exchange companies and do not offer the same level of security that regulated currency exchange companies do. Therefore for big purchases, like buying a house or a car, UK buyers should use a FCA approved company. Visit their website to check : <https://www.fca.org.uk/>

Once you've had an offer accepted on a property, you can make your overseas payments in a few simple steps:

1. Open an account with us
2. Discuss your requirements with your account manager
3. Purchase your currency at a competitive exchange rate
4. Send us payment for your currency purchase
5. Provide the details of the bank account to send payment to
6. Transfer the currency to your recipient
7. And that's it, your overseas payment is complete

Whether you're buying a holiday home or planning to move over permanently, we'll be on hand for all your overseas payment needs for your property purchase, and all your ongoing foreign exchanges thereafter.

La Joie, 53220 La Pellerine

La Joie is a family-run restaurant located in the charming village of La Pellerine, in NW Mayenne. It offers a warm and welcoming atmosphere, and offers a range of dishes featuring locally sourced ingredients with the emphasis on seasonal produce.

Revamped in 2021/2022, the premises are owned by the commune and the restaurant business is owned by an Anglo/Irish couple: Leanne Wright & Kev Byrne.

Since re-opening in May 2022, the restaurant has become a huge success; with Leanne now running a waiting list for Sunday Lunch reservations!

What's On

During the summer months, the region comes alive with a variety of events that offer something for everyone.

One of the most popular events in Mayenne is the Fête de la Musique, a nationwide music festival held every year on or near June 21st. The streets of Mayenne celebrate all genres, from classical to rock, as local musicians take to the streets to perform. Visitors can join in the festivities and dance the night away to the rhythm of the music. Another popular event is the Foire de la Saint-Denis, a traditional fair held in the town of Beaulieu-sur-Oudon in late August.

For those interested in history, the Château de Laval, a medieval castle in Laval, hosts a variety of events throughout the summer, including tours, exhibitions, and medieval re-enactments. Visitors can learn about the rich history of the region and experience life as it was in the past.

Other summer events in Mayenne include the Fête des Vieux Métiers (a celebration of traditional crafts and trades), the Festival Les Nuits de la Mayenne (a performing arts festival), and the Fête de la Bière (a beer festival). With so much to see and do, Mayenne is the perfect destination for a summer getaway. Whether you're interested in music, history, or simply enjoying the beauty of the French countryside, there's something for everyone in this charming department. Running a business in France...

Many people moving to France want to create their own businesses. This can be a baffling experience when you are newly arrived and getting to grips with a new language. The most popular and usually most suitable choice is the micro-entreprise structure.

The micro-entreprise (formerly known as "auto-entreprise") was initially created by Christine Lagarde, now head of the European Central Bank, during her tenure as Minister of Finances in France. Its intention was to allow people to try out business ideas before creating a full-blown company. In fact, because it is so simple to set up, it has turned into a very popular permanent solution for many who wish to have a small business activity. It is also easier to close it down if you decide your project is not a good idea. You can also upgrade it to a limited company relatively easily.

In France, all business activities are listed and categorised according to a NAF number. In turn, these activities fall under three different regulatory bodies, the Chamber of Commerce, the Chambre of Trade and the URSSAF. When you create your micro-entreprise, the formalities involved will differ from one regulatory body to the other.

Creating a business will generate your social security number, if it does not already exist, and your healthcare rights are locked in early on in the procedure.

The microenterprise structure is beneficial in that you don't need to have an accountant to sign off your accounts every year which keeps costs and time-consuming bureaucracy low in the early days.

Social contributions are paid on the year's turnover (you can opt to pay these monthly or each trimester. And, to offset the fact that there are no deductions allowed for expenses, there is a deduction applied on the amount of taxable income, ranging from 31 to 71 %, depending on your activity. Your business can earn 36800 € for services and 91900 € for commerce before you are obliged to register for VAT (T.V.A.). The micro-entreprise has a ceiling of 77 700 € for services and 188 700 € for commercial activities. Beyond this threshold, you will have to change to a limited company structure or cut down on your activity.

Gardening in the Mayenne

The Story of Karen's Garden: Hercé 53120

I first saw the cottage in 1989, it only came with 400sqm but I was offered, what was then a cow field of 4000sqm, and thought why not!

I moved over in 1990 and started working on the house, which was derelict. I created a small garden at the front with pathways and the rest of it was left to grass, which the farmer cut once a year and paid me for the hay. I lived there for a few years but then went back to the UK.

After 5 years, my friend Didier asked if he could start working in the garden. At first, he created some huge long beds and filled them with hundreds of marigolds he grew from seed.

This was followed by lots of shrubs, an orchard, a vegetable garden, and a forest area. Over the 33 years it has grown into a beautiful garden, with different areas around every corner.

Sadly, Didier's health started to deteriorate and the garden suffered but I moved back to the area in 2015, when I bought a bar in Couesmes-Vaucé, and then I moved back to live at the cottage in 2020.

I worked hard, along with paid helpers, to clear all the rubbish and start and get it back to what it was meant to be. It's hard work having such a large space but it brings me so much joy every day and I'm really grateful that Didier laid such a strong foundation for me to build upon.

Life in the Mayenne:

Simon & Chris Wolf: Living in the Mayenne since 2020

Simon and Chris moved to Fougerolles du Plessis in NW Mayenne in August 2020, having spent over 30 years visiting France. From luxury hotels to campsites and cycling holidays, they've seen a lot of the country but when it came to moving here permanently, they had a specific set of criteria.... Originally from Leigh in NW England, Simon has a wealth of experience, from food retailer and caterer to potter and gallery owner and even teacher. But during the past 10 years, he has been perfecting the art of stained and fused glass. From the comfort of their family home in Southport, Chris and Simon searched for the ideal property: something low maintenance but with a workshop for Simon. They found their perfect place in Fougerolles and haven't looked back! Simon is now an "auto-entrepreneur", making and teaching stained glass and glass art. He has even been commissioned to replace a stained glass window in a local chapel. Both Simon and Chris have become involved in local groups: Simon is a member of the local model group and Chris is the secretary for a French/English discussion group that meets monthly. They also attend a French/English conversation group at a local café.

The Mayenne has proved to be the perfect place for them: great roads for cycling, an excellent health service, friendly neighbours and a village brimming full of community spirit. The only downsides have been the French love of bureaucracy and all the paperwork that involves! They're very happy in Fougerolles with no plans to move. Their advice for anyone else contemplating a new life in France? "Take your time to explore, there are so many lovely communities that are very welcoming and supportive of anyone willing to join in / get involved." www.wolfintheshed.com
